MASON CITY — The Mason City Municipal Airport will receive a Federal Aviation Administration Airport Safety Enhancement Award in September during the Four State Aviation Conference in Kansas City, Mo.

The annual FAA certification inspection was conducted Aug. 8 and 9 with no discrepancies found. This is the sixth year in a row the airport has received a discrepancy-free inspection.

Safety Enhancement Awards are given to airports if they are able to accomplish three consecutive annual inspections with no discrepancies.

The FAA inspector commended the airport staff and North Iowa Air Service for the procedures they use in the day-to-day operation of the airport, and noted the appearance of the airport indicates that they are effective.

Mike Mullen, FAA inspector, presented the airport a Medal of Excellence prior to his departure.
